Subject: Submission on fees

Just a short note I believe that a standard range for fees would be beneficial not just from an advisors view but also from and for accountants

In providing a range of an industry standard it is easier to market to the client , people are becoming very educated and sensitive to the costs associated with financial advice and also accounting , I know this is about financial advice but I strongly believe that all professions would benefit from a range or standard fee structure Doctors have had this regulations for years so why not all professions
